Bloomberg Database is a powerful and flexible platform for financial professionals that combines real-time data on all market news & research with analytics and communication tools to make smarter and faster business decisions. It is a premier international financial services database providing news and analytics for over 129 countries and 250 exchanges. Bloomberg has data on more than 5 million bonds, equities, commodities currencies, and funds. It covers almost every publicly traded company globally and has profiles of more than a million people.

This training will help students/research scholars and faculty to deepen their class work and research while learning how to analyze financial markets, and assess economic scenarios. It also interprets the key news and developments that may impact the global economy. The skills students acquire from this experience give them the confidence and advantages they need to compete in the worldwide job market.
